Both Moms and Dads Matter Superhero Fathers

For Younger Audiences

As you watch this interaction between a mom and her baby, notice how the mother and the baby are aware of each other in the conversation and how the baby looks to his mother for cues on how to interact.

For Older Audiences

Parents be advised this video may disturb young viewers as it discusses fathers protecting their children from bodily harm.

Watch: When it comes to protecting their kids from danger, these Dads turned into superheroes.

Fathers are a protective force in the lives of their children. Just listen to some of these facts:

- When fathers play with their children, their children do better in school and academics.
- When fathers give emotional support to their children, the children have more positive social behavior.
- Fathers help children have higher self-esteem and lower rates of depression.
